Reimagine DINING

With the latest in Senior Living dining, you can transform your community and engage your residents. This guide outlines up-and-coming trends, all of which put residents first. Whether you choose to revamp your dining room service or add attractive new features, like grab-and-go cafés or restaurant-style buffets, your residents are sure to appreciate these on-trend updates.

Casual BISTROS

Shake up the regular routine with a more casual take on dining and entertaining.

For an alternative dining experience, consider bistros where residents and guests can select meal and snack options on their own time. With additional menu options and flexible hours, these grab-and-go cafés allow more independence, which is especially appealing to the incoming baby boomer generation. When stocked with nutritious options, like fresh juices, yogurt and fruit, these self-serve stations work as an excellent supplement to your current dining program.

Convertible bistro carts also are an option for communities with multiuse spaces. A compact cart can accommodate snacks and beverages during the day, and can easily be converted into a casual bar in the evenings. This flexible option allows residents to help themselves to a quick bite and provides an opportunity to mingle and socialize with friends.

Display additional chilled options with refrigerated merchandisers.

Speed ovens allow you to cook food rapidly so you can serve residents faster.

Alternative DINING SPACES

The combination of residential and commercial equipment provides a homelike look while maintaining the functionality you need.

Keep residents hydrated with convenient countertop ice machines and water dispensers.

Providing residents with more than their standard dining room is an excellent way to help create a more homelike or hospitality-inspired feel within your community.

Satellite kitchens are an attractive option for communities looking to create an atmosphere where residents feel at home. These spaces, which are separate from the primary kitchen, are designed to create an engaging atmosphere for residents. With residential-style furnishings and a relaxed feel, residents can enjoy themselves in a space that feels familiar.

Additionally, private dining areas are a welcome addition for residents celebrating a special occasion or entertaining guests. These smaller spaces create a restaurant-style environment, complete with comfortable seating, elegant dinnerware and even leather-bound menus.
